"Sarah Thurman
Born in Troy, New York.

Descendant of Laurens Andriesken Van Boskirk (Buskirk), through the Revolutionary ancestor Martin Van Buskirk both of New York, as follows: . . .

Laurens Andriesken (Andriesen) Van Boskirk came from Holstein, Denmark, in summer of 1654/5. His name first appears on record in New Amsterdam, June 29, 1656, in a deed for a lot on Broad Street. He was then unmarried. He took the oath of allegiance Nov. 20, 1665. He married Setp. 12, 1658 Jannetje Jans, widow of Christian Barentsen, and both died in 1694."

"LAURENS ANDRIESSEN, or Laurens Andriessen van Boskerk (Buskirk), was from Holstein. Tradition says he was Dutch and had emigrated from Holland, by way of Denmark, to New Netherland in 1655. But he was a Dane, and had gone from Denmark to Holland, and thence to New Amsterdam. It seems that he was in Amsterdam in 1654. On July 15, 1656, he brought suit in New Amsterdam against Frerick Adryuenson, "his man" who "ran away from him last Sunday morning without either words or reason, and he hired him in Amsterdam for three years and he is bound yet for more than one year."

Andriessen was a ~~turner~~ by trade. In the records he is often called Laurens Turner or de Drayer. In the suit of 1656 he is called van Boskerk. He got this name from living on premises by a church near the woods. He seems to have obtained these premises in 1656, and to have added to them in 1659, when he was granted land by certain church wardens; and in 1660, when he again purchased land from the church wardens, on the west side of Broadway, north of what was then the church yard, between Morris and Rector Streets. It was west to the river, 43 feet wide, 195 feet long. He built on this lot, for which he paid 200 guilders.

In June, 1656, he bought and sold lots on the present east side of Broad street and south of Beaver Street. The persons with whom he was dealing in these transactions, were Lucas Dirksen Van Berg, Jochem Beeckman, and Jacobus Backer.

* On December 12, 1658, Andriessen married Jannetje Jans, widow of Christian Barentsen. Barentsen was probably a Dane, from Holstein (See Excursus, Part II), and Jannetje, it would appear, was Norwegian. For in "The records of New Amsterdam," April 11, 1658, a Christian (Barentsen) is spoken of as the husband of the "Noorman's daughter".

By her first husband she had three, if not four, children: Barent, Cornelis, Johannes. In her second marriage she had four children: Andries, Laurens, Pieter, and Thomas.

Andries was baptized, according to the records, on March 3, 1659. . . . If Andries was born on March 3, 1659, he was likely the son of Christian Barentsen. Andries died in Bergen, New Jersey, 1683.

Laurens married Hendrickje Van der Linden. His will is proved in Bergen County, June 4, 1724.

Peter was born January 1, 1666, died 1738. He married Trintje Harmense, by whom he had three children.

Thomas married Margaret Hendrickje Van der Linden, died 1745. They had ten children. As many records Van der Linden is left off - written "Margaret Hendrickje" first wife.

Laurens Andriessen acquired much land in Bergen County, New Jersey, and became influential in political life. . . . He often served on juries. He was a member of the Bergen Court, 1677 to 1680, president of it, 1681, president of the County Court, 1682. He was also for several years member of the Governor's Council.

On April 10, 1682, he obtained a patent of 1076 acres of land at Hackensack, New Jersey. On May 23, in the same year; he obtained a deed for "half a parcel" of land, adjoining Cornelis Christians, likewise at New Hackensack, and "a half a meadow lot."

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

TO THE HONORABLE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR
WASHINGTON, D. C.

On March 24, 1683, he was appointed Justice of Peace of the Quorum, for the counties of Essex, Middelsex, Monmouth, and Bergen.

The will of Laurens Andriessen and his wife is dated August 29, 1679. It was proved March 19, 1693.

Of Laurens Andriessen's children, Laurens (born 1663), represented Bergen in the Fifth Provincial Assembly, 1709. He died 1724. He had seven children.

Laurens Andriessen is the common ancestor of the Van Buskirks, well known in the annals of New Jersey and New York. His great-grandson Jacob Van Buskirk born at Hackensack, in 1739, probably was the first American-born Lutheran minister in the United States. A descendant of his is Dr. J. Singmaster, President of the Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, Penn."

THE PASSAIC VALLEY NEW JERSEY by John Whitehead, LL.D. 1901

P. 438

"... The First road in Hudson County was one leading from Communipaw to Bergen (Jersey City), and was laid out as early as 1660. In 1682, by act of the general assembly, the first "street commission" in the province was organized, consisting of John Berry, Lawrence Andries (Van Boskerck), and others. . . ."

SCANDINAVIAN IMMIGRANTS IN NEW YORK 1630-1674 by John O. Evjen, Ph.D. 1916

pp. 36-41

"Laurens Andriessen, often called Laurens Noorman, was a native of Norway. Nothing is known as to the time he immigrated to New Netherland. He served for some time as a soldier in the war against the Indians. He is first mentioned in the beginning of 1644.

In the Records of the Reformed Dutch Church in New Amsterdam he appears as a sponsor, February 22, 1644, at the baptism of the son of a Charles Andries. . . .

Laurens Andriessen was one of the signers of the petition of the Lutherans in New Amsterdam sent to the Director and Council of New Netherland, requesting that the order of the government to send the lately arrived Lutheran pastor Johannis Ernestus Goetwater back to Europe be revoked. . . ."

P. 24

"After this date Laurens Andriessen appears no more as a resident of New Amsterdam. It is probable that he removed to the west shore of the Hudson river about this time, and that in 1662 he purchased a tract of 170 acres at Mingackwa. . . "

". . . This tract was on Bergen Neck, between Cavan Point and Constable's Hook, and extended northwest and southeast from Hudson's River to Newark Bay, being a mile in length, on the northwesterly side, and a mile and a half on the southeasterly side, and half a mile in breadth. The locality was called by the Indian name Mingackwa, with an infinite variety of spelling. In 1683 it was incorporated as Greenville township, which in 1873 was annexed to Jersey City. Here Lourens built and for some years occupied a house on the shore of New York Bay, near the present Greenville station on the Central Railroad of New Jersey. . .

But the ownership of a patent carried with it an interest in the common lands, and we learn from the report of the commissioners for dividing those lands in 1764 that Laurens Andriessen's share on that account was designated by them as Lot No. 266, on their map . . . "

P. 27

". . . Andriessen appears also to have taken up or acquired a lot in the town of Bergen, as we find by a reference in a patent of May 12, 1668, from Governor Philip Carteret, for Lord Berkley and Sir George Carteret, Proprietors of New Jersey, in which it is described . . . "

P. 29

"Upon removing to the west side of the Hudson River, about 1660-1662, Lourens speedily took a leading part in the affairs of the region of his new home. The Schepens of Bergen in 1662 petitioned the Director-General and Council of New Netherland to "have a God fearing man and preacher, to be an example to and teach the fear of God in the community of Bergen and its jurisdiction." They submitted a list of the inhabitants who were willing to contribute to this end, with the sum promised by each, and the names of nine others who were agreeable, but preferred to give according to their discretion, among the latter being Lourens Andries. . . (N. Y. Col. Docs., XIII, P. 233.)

. . . Of the twenty-one signers, Laurens Andriessen was fourth; he was one of fourteen who did not make their marks.

. . . The community of Bergen having unanimously decided to erect a blockhouse at each gate of the village, for its necessary protection, the Court authorized and directed seven of the principal men, among them Lourens Andriesse, "to promote each in his quarter the work as much as possible and to take good care of it." The committee ordered that the men who absented themselves from the work should pay part of the expenses, besides a fine of six guilders for each day they failed to report for duty. This action being submitted to the Director-General and Council of the Colony, received their hearty "approval, praise and consent," February 21, 1664."

"Andries was again summoned as a juror, Feb. 28, 1671-2, at a special court held at Elizabethtown, by commission from the Governor, to try eight citizens of that town, charged with rioting, on June 20, 1671, in pulling down the fence of Richard Michell. . . "

P. 75

"A distinguished honor befel the subject of this sketch in the following March, 1671-2, when he was selected by Governor Carteret to serve on his Council, the upper branch of the Provincial Legislature. The record briefly says:

"A Comission bearing date the Eighteenth day of March Anno Dom 1671 to Mr. Lawrence Andreson of Bergen Esqr. to be one of the Councill."

As we shall see hereafter, he was a member of the Council so late as 1684, and apparently of considerable weight in that body.

He had the distinction, also, of being the first person to act as Coroner, in Bergen County, so far as the records show. . . "

P. 76

"The Dutch having reconquered New Netherland, in August, 1673, the inhabitants of the several villages in New Jersey were ordered to send delegates to meet the Dutch Admirals and Council of War, to treat for the surrender of the several towns, on August 18, at "the City of New Orange," as New York had been re-named. on that day

Captain John Berry, William Sandfort, Samuel Edsall, and Lourens Andriessen, appearing before the Council request that they and their plantations may be confirmed in the privileges which they obtained from their previous Patroons, and furthermore possess unobstructed their houses, lands and goods, and to enjoy such further privileges as are granted and accorded to all other the inhabitants of Achter Coll, lately called New Jersey.

The Council curtly ordered:

The Petitioners shall enjoy their lawfully acquired houses, lands and goods, together with such privileges as are granted and accorded to their neighboring towns of Achter Coll. What regards the privileges obtained from their previous Patroons, the same is denied the Petitioners.

When the people in the vicinity of Bergen wanted anything from the new Dutch rulers, they selected Andriessen to represent them. Thus, at a Council held in Fort Willem Hendrick (New York), June 15, 1674:

On petition of Lourens Andriese, and others. . . "

P. 79

"As a member of the Governor's Council he was appointed a Justice of the Peace and one of the quorum of the County Courts of each of the four counties in East Jersey-- Essex, Middlesex, Monmouth and Bergen, such appointment being made March 24, 1682-3. . . "

P. 80

". . . Laurens Andriessen secured a patent, dated April 10, 1682, executed: "By the Right Honorable Phillip Carterett, Esqr Govr of the Province of East N. J. By Lady Elizabeth Carterett," and in favor of "Mr. Laurence Anderson of Bergin Gent" for . . . For this splendid domain Laurens was to pay the Proprietors of East Jersey "yearly on every 25th day of March one half peny for every acre. . . "

P. 81-84

"Some mention has been made of various offices to which Laurens Andriessen had been appointed from time to time, but the list is by no means exhausted. We have seen that he was commissioned a member of Governor Philip Carteret's Council March 18, 1671-2, and

pp. 81-84 con't

"indeed is mentioned as such in 1670. When the Governor was about to sail for England, in July, 1672, Laurens was one of the signers (June 15) of an address by the council, expressing confidence in the Governor, and protesting against the pretensions of Capt. Carteret to the government of the Province. With the other members of the Council he affixed his signature (July 1) to the commission of Samuel Moore to represent the Council in England, whither he was bound to accompany and support the Governor. On the same day he also signed a letter addressed by the Council to the Lords Proprietors in behalf of Governor Carteret and against James Carteret. He appears to have been continued on the Council during the whole of Carteret's administration, as we find him thus referred to in November, 1674, and he was again commissioned July 2, 1681.

In addition to this honor the records show that he was appointed to the positions following:

- 1670, April 6--Recorder and brander of horses, Bergen.
- 1674-5, Feb. 15--Justice of the Peace for Bergen.
- 1675, June 4--Judge of a Court of Oyer and Terminer for Elizabeth.
- 1675, June 28--Judge of a Court of Oyer and Terminer for Woodbridge.
- 1675-6, March 13--Assistant Judge, County Court at Bergen.
- 1676, March 31--Assistant Judge, Special Court of Oyer and Terminer at Woodbridge.
- 1676, October 18--Ranger General.
- 1676-7, Feb. 16--Assistant Judge, Court of Bergen County and adjacent plantations.
- 1679-80, Feb. 18--Assistant Judge, Bergen County Court.
- 1681, July 2--Justice of the Peace of the Quorum, Bergen county.

Lord John Berkeley having sold (March 18, 1673-4) his equal undivided one-half of New Jersey to John Fenwick and others, after the recession of New Netherland the Duke of York gave a new grant (July 28-29, 1674) to Sir George Carteret for East Jersey alone, Fenwick and associates retaining West Jersey. The division line between the two tracts or Provinces was agreed upon by the several grantees by a quintipartite deed, July 1, 1676. Upon the death of Carteret his interest in East Jersey was put up at auction by his executors and trustees, and sold to a company of speculators, mostly Londoners, who became known as the East Jersey Proprietors, whose successors and assigns are to this day the owners in fee simple of so much of the soil of East Jersey (except lands under tide-water) as is still undisposed of.

The administration of Governor Philip Carteret terminated upon the arrival at Elizabeth Town, November 13, 1682, of Thomas Rudyard, the new Deputy Governor appointed by the East Jersey Proprietors. One of his first acts was to name a new Council, on December 10, 1682, Lawrence Anderson being one of the two from Bergen county. It was not until the twelfth of February following that the Councillors met and took the oaths of allegiance to the King and "to bee true and faithfull to the Interest of the Lords Proprietors of the said Province." The minutes of the Council show that Laurens was regular in his attendance and faithful in his devotion to the public business. His importance in that body appears from the fact that he was frequently named on committees to confer with the lower house of the Legislature. The Council also constituted the Court of Common Right of the Province (a trace whereof remains in the "six judges specially appointed" of the Court of Errors and Appeals of our State), and Laurens sat therein as a Judge, when occasion demanded. According to custom, also, he and the other Councillors were appointed, March 24, 1682-3, Justices of the Peace of the Quorum, for each of the four counties--Bergen, Essex, Middlesex and Monmouth--of the Province, and he was commissioned a Judge of the Court of Common Right. He was also named as Justice of the Peace for the town of Bergen, February 4, 1682-3, and was designated by act of the Legislature passed the same year to serve as Highway Commissioner of the county of Bergen."

Tomas Lourens<sup>1</sup>Andriessse Van Buskirk m. 1st, Margritie Brickers; 2d, May 18, 1720, Volckge or Volkertie Collier, y. d., on the Flatts at Lonenburg, now Athens, Greene county, N. Y. The entry in the records of the Zion Lutheran church at the latter place reads (translation):

1720 May 18 Thomas v. Boskerk of Hackensack, wid. Volkje Colliers of Vlakte, Loonenburg.

In the records of the Lutheran church at New York the marriage is entered under the dates May 15 and May 18, as follows;

At Lonenburg: Thomas Van Boschkerck, widower, at Hackinsack, and Volckge Collier, Y. D., on the Flats, Lonenburg.

He seems to have been a man of some prominence in his neighborhood. He was appointed a justice of the peace and an associate judge of the court of common pleas of Bergen county, January 21, 1714-15; he was again appointed a justice of the peace for the same county, August 25, 1725. Moreover, he figured in military circles, being referred to in 1724 as colonel. He seems to have become interested in Hunterdon county lands at an early date, which led to his ultimately removing thither. He was also concerned in the opening up of Morris county to settlement, as appears from this advertisement, in "The American Weekly Mercury," of Philadelphia, August 20-27, 1724:

To be sold by Col. Thomas Vanbuskirk of Hackensack . . .

The land in question must have been located about Montville, Morris (then Hunterdon) county.--N. J. Archives, 11: 82. He bought from John Johnston, of New York City, by deed dated June 3, 1718, for the consideration of 220 pounds, he being then of Bergen county, a tract of land on Saddle river, Bergen county.--"West Jersey Deeds," Liber E, f. 128. He was again appointed a justice of the peace for Bergen county, August 23, 1725. It must have been later than that date that he took up his residence in Hunterdon county. On the occasion of the baptism of two of his children, in the Lutheran church, Col. Abram de Peyster and wife Catharina, acted as witnesses or sponsors, by proxy. Col. de Peyster was a prominent merchant in New York, and also figured largely in the military and political events of the time. The fact that he and his wife were willing to appear as sponsors for Thomas's children, indicates a certain degree of friendship between the two families, perhaps founded on faithful service rendered by Thomas in the employ of de Peyster, or perhaps on notable military gallantry displayed by him under the doughty Colonel in some of the Colonial wars. In his will (which is without date), he describes himself as of Riding (Reading) township. The will was proved October 20, 1748, at Trenton. He gives to his wife an equal share with his sons, of his real and personal estate. He names children--John, the eldest; Janetie, wife of Peter Van Orden, to have a trunk that belonged to her mother; Gertruy, wife of Wiert Banta, to have ten shillings: Andries, Laurens, Abraham, Pieter, Isaac, Michael and John to have the rest of his estate; Margaret, wife of John Church, and Fitie, wife of Andries Amack, to have the share of a son divided (between them). Executors--sons Laurens, Abraham and Michael Vanboskerk. Witnesses--Jacobus Swart, Joost Schamp, Nicholas Wyckoff.--"N. J. Wills, Liber 5, 539."

By his first wife, Margrietie Brickers:

1. Johannis
2. Andries
3. Laurens
4. Abram
5. Pieter
6. Jacob
7. Janje or Johanna
8. Isaac
9. Geertru

By his second wife, Volkertie Collier:

10. Michael, b. March --, 1721; bap. June 11, 1721, in the Hackensack Lutheran church. Witnesses--Michael Collier and Titie Collier, and in their absence Jost Van Boschkerck and Henrickge Van Boschkerck.

11. Margrietie, bap. Feb. 17, 1723, in the Hackensack Dutch church. Witnesses--Jan Halenbeck and Willemtia his wife. She accompanied her father on his removal to Hunterdon county, and there m. John Church.

12. Titie (Fytje), b. Feb. 6, 1727, bap. Oct. 10, 1727, "on Tuesday in the Lutheran church at Hakkingsack." She is mentioned in her father's will as the wife of Andries Amack.

13. Cathryne, bap. June 21, 1730, being three weeks old at the time at Hakinseck; sponsors--Hannes Pietersen Van Booskerk and wife Elsje. The father is called Major Thomas Van Boskerk, whereas in 1724 he had been styled Colonel. She probably d. young, as she is not mentioned in her father's will.

". . . Lourens Andriessen came from Holstein, Denmark, to New Amsterdam, where he arrived in the summer of 1655. . .

He was made "Recorder and Marker" for Minkakwa, April 6, 1670, and "marker-general" for the town of Bergen, October 8, 1676, and on the latter date he was also made ranger for Bergen with the power to name deputies. His duties as recorder and marker was to brand all horses and cattle feeding on the meadows and common pasturage lands, and as ranger "to bring all stray horses, mares and cattle in to a place of safety." He was commissioned a deputy to the Bergen county court, February 16, 1677, and February 18, 1680, and he was made president of the court, August 31, 1682. He was a member of the council of Governor Carteret after March 18, 1672, for several years. He held the first commission to administer "Crowners quest law" in Bergen county, having been appointed January 18, 1672, to hold an inquest on a child, who had died under suspicious circumstances. On January 6, 1676, he purchased, with other residents of Bergen county, a large tract of land which became known as New Hackensuck on the Passaic river and on which he resided as early as 1688.

He married, September 12, 1658, while a resident of New Amsterdam, Jannetje Jans, widow of Christain Barenton, and part of the dower she brought to her husband was four stalwart boys, her sons by her first husband, and by her second husband she had four other children. When he settled in New Jersey, he added the name Van Buskirk or Boskirk to that by which he was known in New Amsterdam. The names of the four children of Lourens Andriessen and Jannetje (Jans) Van Buskirk were:

1. Andries, baptized March 3, 1660; was a member of the sixth provincial assembly of New Jersey in 1710, and in 1718 was appointed with Myndart Carsbrant to enforce the oyster law. He died in 1724.

2. Laurens, married Hendrickje Van de Linde, and represented Bergen county in the fifth provincial assembly in 1709; his will was dated May 7, 1722, and approved January 4, 1724.

3. Peter, born January 1, 1666; married Trentje, daughter of Hans Hermance, of Constaples Hoeck, and they had children; she died November 7, 1726, and he died July 21, 1738; through his wife he became owner of half of the Hoeck tract of land and he purchased the other half and some of his descendants still occupy part of the land.

4. Thomas, see forward. The father and mother of these children both died in 1694, the mother first and the father a few months thereafter.

(II) Thomas, youngest of the four sons of Lourens Andriessen and Jannetje (Jans) Van Buskirk, was born probably in 1668 in Bergen, East New Jersey. He married Margreijtje Hendrickje Van Der Linde; children, born in Bergen, New Jersey:

"William Hatcher was born in Careby, England, about 1614 and came into this country about 1635 and figured conspicuously as a resident of Henrico."

On June 1, 1636, he received a patent for land for the importation of himself and three others into the colony.

In the land grant office in Richmond are recorded the several grants of land issued to this William Hatcher, in Book 1, page 433, 850 acres; Book 1, page 559, 150 acres; Book 6, page 529, 227 acres.

"In their beginnings in Henrico, the Hatchers . . . were very well to do people." William Hatcher, the immigrant became a member of the House of Burgesses from the County of Henrico, and served in that capacity in 1644, 1645, 1646, 1649 and 1652. (Colonial Virginia Register, p. 65; 5 V. 98)

. . . William Hatcher was again Burgess in March, 1658-9. So far as the extant records show, this was his last public service. . .

. . . The children of this William Hatcher, Sr., of Henrico County were:
1. Edward Hatcher. In Valentine Papers by Edward Pleasants, page 1976, we find: "Edward Hatcher, Sr., of Neck of Land, son of Wm. Hatcher of Henrico County." This Edward Hatcher was born about 1633.

. . . Edward Hatcher's inventory in Henrico Records 1710-1714, p. 106, is dated Sep. 28, 1711.

"In 1684 his wife was Mary." . . . Seth, among the sons of Edward Hatcher (1633-1711) of Henrico may have come from Seth Ward, and hence Edward Hatcher's wife Mary, may have been a daughter of Ward.

The children of this Edward Hatcher were: (1) Edward, (2) John, (3) Seth, (4) William, (5) Sarah, "August 2, 1682, Edward Hatcher . . . to his daughter Sarah Hatcher." In 1686, Matthew Turpin married the daughter of Edward Hatcher. In 1686 Edward Hatcher made a deed to Henry Turpin, son of his daughter Sarah." Sarah Hatcher in 1689 (a widow of Matthew Turpin) married Joseph Tanner."

"William Hatcher (1), 200 acres in Henrico on Appomattuck River, extending north toward "Pearse his stile Creek". . .

There is a deed dated 1682 from Edward Hatcher, conveying to his daughter Sarah, an Indian girl. Another in 1686 from Edward Hatcher to Henry Turpin, son of his daughter Sarah. . .

On April 31, 1679, marriage licenses were issued in Henrico to John Edloe of James City county, and Martha Hatcher; in 1682 to William Hatcher and a daughter of John Burton, and in 1686 to Matthew Turpin, and Sarah, daughter of Edward Hatcher."
